

The forest and the trees.

projecy™ E3

Effective project delivery, every time.

Theories about business analysis tend to breakdown when applied to real situations. An early snag may throw an entire project off course, something that may only be realized months down the road. Until now.

Trissential has designed a way to put theory into practice with the robust and flexible executional tool, Projecy E3. Using the Business Analysis Body of Knowledge (BABOK), the global standard for business analysis, Projecy E3 enables organizations to build executional capacity as one of your organization's competitive advantages.

Projecy E3 works from the 29 BABOK processes and six project knowledge areas—aligning them with the people, project requirements, tools and timing needs. It comes complete with templates, examples and tools to speed the learning curve while being customized to each particular project and situation. And, most importantly, it gives you the framework you need to create clear, concise, and complete business requirements.

Driving executional excellence.

Projecy E3's approach doesn't require deep expertise to use—though experts will immediately see its benefits. Instead, Projecy E3 brings a level of sophistication that gives every detail its place, from metrics and requirements to deployment needs. Projecy E3 becomes the indispensable requirements tool by:

- Identifying risks early, putting into place all necessary metrics, enabling efficient design and development criteria, setting up effective testing processes, and streamlining deployment.
- Applying the familiar best-practices BABOK model within a useful (and user friendly) framework—without dumbing-down the deep resource that is BABOK.
- Displaying where project requirements are at any point. Should you lose a team member, Projecy E3 can immediately show what elements need to be covered to stay on track.
- Fitting how your company works, allowing customization at every point within the framework.
- Increasing the ability of your employees to execute efficiently with industry-leading tools, and facilitating the process.
- Documenting the process of execution, and, in turn, providing input for deeper process-outcome analysis.
- Helping organizations clearly and efficiently define roles, responsibilities, timing and necessary tools.
- Enabling better business requirements, less rework, clearer reporting and, most critically, on time and on budget delivery.

How Projecty E3 works.

With lightweight templates, process documents, examples and clear reporting techniques—customized to how your organization develops business requirements—Trissential's Projecty E3 is the complete toolbox for project execution. The extensive templates and examples allow your organization to take the lead from best-in-class examples.

Projecty E3 helps ferret out the structures and processes that allow your organization to succeed in a way appropriate to your design. Instead of limping through with a rigid structure that's cobbled together to fit your needs, Projecty E3 fits the company today.

The advantage is clear and immediate: Projecty E3 projects are destined to complete the requirements correctly the first time. While this is often the corporate goal, we bring reality closer in line with intentions.

Projecty.

The key to creating a business that's always improving.

Projecty brand software applications enable organizations to predict and guide project outcomes—the word Projecty combines project and prophecy. Projecty E3 allows projects to be executed with the highest degree of precision, with necessary metrics, requirements, design, testing and deployment tools built in. Trissential also offers Projecty E2, a first of its kind application for helping project and portfolio management operationalize the Project Management Body of Knowledge (PMBOK). At the executive decision-making level, Trissential's Projecty E1 enables a higher level of executive portfolio and project prioritization.

301 CARLSON PARKWAY, SUITE 303
MINNETONKA, MN 55305

PHONE : 952.595.7970

FAX : 952.513.1544

info@trissential.com

www.trissential.com

Trissential is a management consulting and project execution organization specializing in business improvement. Trissential Essentialists help companies achieve desired results through the effective alignment of strategy with efficient management and exceptional execution.

For more details about Trissential and our Essential Business Model, visit Trissential.com.